ABOUT

I am a Chicago-based travel blogger and working mom of two. Having meaningful travel experiences is a priority for me so I work hard to balance travel along with my career and family life.

The Working Mom's Travels features family travel with kids, multi-generational travel, adults-only trips, as well as solo travel. Other passions of mine include roots music and premium beverages, namely craft beer and bourbon, and it's not unusual for me to travel for a music festival or to visit a brewery. Such experiences are featured, as well.
